ELICIA ELIZABETH EIBERGER SCHOLARSHIP - first on record for the Class of 2004

Elicia Eiberger was a tiny person with a big heart. She would have graduated in 2006 but was called from this life shortly after her 16th birthday. Elicia suffered her entire life with a rare genetic disorder called “Muscle Fiber Type Disproportion.” While she would most likely get no worse, Elicia would get no better. Elicia was a straight “A” student, but she had to work and study hard to achieve that status. She lived each day with a determination to see another. Elicia was loved by her family, her friends and almost everyone who came into her presence. By choice and with sheer determination, Elicia climbed the three flights of stairs to her classrooms. She never backed down from a challenge. It seemed something she must do herself.

In the spirit of this dogged determination to succeed in spite of obstacles, this $200 scholarship will be awarded to the individual who most exhibits these same qualities who is pursuing an academic or vocational education. A faculty committee will choose the recipient and alternate. Hopefully, in a very small way, she will help other students realize their dreams.
